

Just three of many...

Priscilla, her daughter Georgie, and grand-daughter, Ellie, are just three of the thousands of women touched by breast cancer every year in South Australia.

When, at the age of 39, Georgie found a suspicious lump in her right breast, she turned to the St Andrew's Hospital Breast Centre for surgery and treatment. Only three years later, her mother Priscilla, was also diagnosed with the disease. Like Georgie, Priscilla turned to St Andrew's for expert care.

"St Andrew's surgeons and specialist breast care nurses were just so kind and very professional," Priscilla says.

"You couldn't ask for better care and support at what is a very frightening time."

Only one of many...

With close to 2,000 patients attending our Breast Centre each year, St Andrew's Hospital undertakes more breast surgery than any other hospital in South Australia.

But breast care is only one of our Hospital's many specialized services and Priscilla, Georgie and Ellie are only three of the many to benefit from our excellent facilities and professional care...

As survivors of breast cancer, Georgie and Priscilla remain positive, but are naturally concerned about the future for Ellie and her extended family.

"I am grateful that I can celebrate my 50th wedding anniversary with my husband and family," Priscilla says, "and most importantly, that my grand-daughter will benefit in the future from the research being done today."

Three easy ways to make a difference...

Make a donation

Donations are a significant part of the Foundation's life blood. Amounts of $2.00 or more are fully tax deductible. For more information on making a donation, simply call the Foundation Director on (08) 8408 2005 or visit our website at www.standrewsfoundation.org.au

Arrange an 'In Memoriam' donation

You may choose to honour the life of a loved one by asking family and friends to make an 'In Memoriam' donation, to the St Andrew's Hospital Foundation, rather than sending flowers. Our Foundation Director can quickly and easily make the necessary arrangements with the funeral director.

Make a bequest

If you are interested in making a bequest or a gift to St Andrew's from your will, please speak to our Foundation Director in the first instance. We also suggest that you seek professional advice from your solicitor or trustee company.

All donors will be formally recognised by the Foundation unless otherwise requested, but gift (amount) details will not be disclosed.*
